Dear Emory Families:

Historically in the U.S. many changes occur in government and policy when a new political party assumes office. After his January 20 Inauguration President Donald Trump enacted Executive Orders that impact international and undocumented students. Many students are concerned about future travel and academic choices. Recently, one order was halted by a federal judge. However, with over 17% of our students international and others undocumented, concerns continue. To help you understand how Emory University is working with our students impacted by these policy changes, the Office of International Student and Scholar Service issued the following information:  http://isss.emory.edu/about/news/2017/01-28-executive-order.html
In addition, our Coordinator of International Student Life Rick Huizinga works closely with international students to help them succeed at Emory. He is a wonderful resource and can be reached at rick.huizinga@emory.edu.

If you are unable to get to links that are provided in this newsletter, please email me at: family@emory.edu. I will be happy to cut and paste the info in an email to you.

Hail the Gold & Blue!
